

Activity 1: FBLA Financial Goal Setting Workshop

Standard

FIN-FL-12: Explore how related student organizations are integral parts of career and technology education courses through leadership development, school and community service projects, entrepreneurship development, and competitive events.

Activity Title

My Future Financial Goals with FBLA

Assignment Sheet

Purpose

FBLA encourages students to develop leadership and career skills while promoting financial responsibility. In this activity, students will create personal financial goals and connect them to opportunities available through FBLA.

Directions

Part I: Financial Goal Planning

Answer the following questions:

1. What is one short-term financial goal you have?
2. What is one long-term financial goal you have?
3. What steps can you take to achieve these goals?
4. How could FBLA help you develop skills needed to reach your goals?
5. Identify an FBLA leadership activity or competitive event that would benefit you.

Part II: Reflection

Write a paragraph explaining how leadership experiences in FBLA can help students achieve financial success.

Grading

- Questions: 50 points
- Reflection: 30 points
- Financial Literacy Connections: 10 points
- Completeness: 10 points

Total: 100 Points

Activity 2: FBLA Entrepreneurship Challenge

Standard

FIN-FL-12

Activity Title

Student Business Idea Pitch

Assignment Sheet

Purpose

Entrepreneurship is a major component of business education and FBLA. Students will develop a business concept and explain how FBLA can help strengthen entrepreneurial skills.

Directions

Imagine you are launching a small business.

Part I: Business Concept

Provide the following information:

1. Business name
2. Product or service offered
3. Target customers
4. Startup costs needed
5. How your business will generate revenue

Part II: FBLA Connection

Answer:

1. Which FBLA competitive event would help prepare you for operating this business?
2. What leadership skills would you develop through FBLA?
3. How can entrepreneurship experiences prepare students for future careers?

Part III: Reflection

Write a paragraph explaining how FBLA supports entrepreneurship and financial literacy.

Grading

- Business Plan: 50 points
- FBLA Connection: 25 points
- Reflection: 15 points
- Completeness: 10 points

Total: 100 Points

Activity 3: FBLA Financial Literacy Community Outreach Project

Standard

FIN-FL-12

Activity Title

Teaching Financial Literacy to Others

Assignment Sheet

Purpose

FBLA promotes community service while helping students apply classroom knowledge. Students will create a community outreach plan designed to teach financial literacy concepts.

Directions

Part I: Outreach Plan

Answer the following questions:

1. What financial topic would you teach?
2. Who is your target audience?
3. Why is this topic important?
4. What activities would participants complete?
5. What role would FBLA members play during the event?

Part II: Career and Leadership Connection

Answer:

1. What leadership skills would students develop?
2. How would this project benefit the community?
3. What careers relate to financial education?

Part III: Reflection

Write a paragraph explaining why FBLA community service projects are important for developing responsible leaders.

Grading

- Outreach Plan: 50 points
- Leadership & Career Connection: 25 points
- Reflection: 15 points
- Completeness: 10 points

Total: 100 Points

Student Work Sample

Activity 1: My Future Financial Goals with FBLA

Student Name: Olivia Brown

Date: September 03, 2026

Part I: Financial Goal Planning

1. What is one short-term financial goal you have?

My short-term financial goal is to save $500 for a laptop that I can use for school assignments and college preparation.

2. What is one long-term financial goal you have?

My long-term financial goal is to save enough money to help pay for college expenses and avoid excessive student loan debt.

3. What steps can you take to achieve these goals?

I can create a monthly budget, save a portion of any money I earn, reduce unnecessary spending, and track my progress regularly.

4. How could FBLA help you develop skills needed to reach your goals?

FBLA can help me develop leadership, communication, and decision-making skills that are important for career success and financial stability.

5. Identify an FBLA leadership activity or competitive event that would benefit you.

The Personal Finance competitive event would benefit me because it focuses on financial decision-making and money management skills.

Part II: Reflection

Leadership experiences in FBLA can help students achieve financial success by teaching responsibility and goal setting. Students learn how to communicate effectively, work in teams, and manage projects. These skills are useful in both college and careers. FBLA also provides opportunities to learn about budgeting and financial planning. As a result, students become more confident and financially prepared for the future.

Teacher Score

Criteria	Score
Questions	48/50
Reflection	29/30
Financial Literacy Connections	10/10
Completeness	10/10
Total	97/100

Teacher Feedback

Mr. Graham

Olivia, excellent work connecting your personal financial goals to the opportunities available through FBLA. Your responses demonstrate a strong understanding of budgeting, saving, and career preparedness. Consider providing additional details about how participating in the Personal Finance event could specifically support your college goals. Great job!

Student Work Sample

Activity 2: Student Business Idea Pitch

Student Name: Noah Jackson

Date: September 09, 2026

Part I: Business Concept

Business Name: Panther Tech Support

Product or Service Offered:

Affordable technology support and device setup services for students and families.

Target Customers:

High school students, parents, and community members.

Startup Costs Needed:

Approximately $300 for marketing materials, tools, and software subscriptions.

How Will Your Business Generate Revenue?

Revenue would come from charging customers for technology setup, troubleshooting, and tutoring services.

Part II: FBLA Connection1. Which FBLA competitive event would help prepare you for operating this business?

The Business Plan event would help me learn how to organize and present a business idea.

2. What leadership skills would you develop through FBLA?

Communication, teamwork, problem-solving, and project management.

3. How can entrepreneurship experiences prepare students for future careers?

Entrepreneurship teaches students how businesses operate, how to manage finances, and how to serve customers effectively.

Part III: Reflection

FBLA supports entrepreneurship by giving students opportunities to create business plans, solve problems, and present ideas. Students gain experience managing projects and making business decisions. FBLA competitive events also help students improve leadership and public speaking skills. Financial literacy is important because entrepreneurs must understand budgeting and profitability. These experiences prepare students for future careers in business and finance.

Teacher Score

Criteria	Score
Business Plan	48/50
FBLA Connection	24/25
Reflection	15/15
Completeness	10/10
Total	97/100

Teacher Feedback

Mr. Graham

Noah, outstanding job developing a realistic business idea and connecting it to FBLA experiences. Your explanation of entrepreneurship and revenue generation demonstrates strong business knowledge. I particularly liked your connection to the Business Plan competitive event. For additional growth, include a more detailed marketing strategy for attracting customers. Excellent work!

Student Work Sample

Activity 3: Teaching Financial Literacy to Others

Student Name: Sophia Carter

Date: September 12, 2026

Part I: Outreach Plan

1. What financial topic would you teach?

Budgeting for teenagers.

2. Who is your target audience?

Ninth-grade students at Centennial High School.

3. Why is this topic important?

Many teenagers begin earning money through part-time jobs and need to learn how to manage income responsibly.

4. What activities would participants complete?

Students would create a mock monthly budget and participate in a spending decision simulation.

5. What role would FBLA members play during the event?

FBLA members would lead activities, answer questions, and present financial literacy information.

Part II: Career and Leadership Connection

1. What leadership skills would students develop?

Public speaking, teamwork, organization, and communication.

2. How would this project benefit the community?

It would help students make informed financial decisions and build better money management habits.

3. What careers relate to financial education?

Financial advisor, accountant, banker, teacher, and financial planner.

Part III: Reflection

FBLA community service projects are important because they allow students to use their knowledge to help others. Students learn leadership skills while making a positive impact in the community. Financial literacy outreach can help younger students avoid financial mistakes and make responsible decisions. These projects build confidence and strengthen communication skills. FBLA experiences help students prepare for future careers and leadership opportunities.

Teacher Score

Criteria	Score
Outreach Plan	49/50
Leadership & Career	24/25

Criteria	Score
Connection
Reflection	14/15
Completeness	10/10
Total	97/100

Teacher Feedback

Mr. Graham

Sophia, this is an excellent outreach plan that clearly connects financial literacy education with FBLA service and leadership opportunities. Your budgeting workshop is practical and appropriate for high school students. Your reflection effectively explains how community service projects support leadership development and career readiness. Consider adding more details about how success would be measured during the event. Well done!

These three student work samples provide evidence for:

- Leadership Development
- Community Service
- Entrepreneurship Development
- Competitive Events
- Financial Literacy Application
- Career Readiness

FIN-FTS-9 CTSO Documentation Activities

Course: 07.42800 Financial Technologies and Services

Standard: FIN-FTS-9

Standard Statement:

Examine how related student organizations are integral parts of career and technology education courses through leadership development, school and community service projects, and competitive events.

CTSO: Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA)

Date for All Activities: September 16, 2026

Activity 1: FBLA Leadership in Financial Technologies

Assignment Sheet

Objective

Students will examine how FBLA leadership opportunities help develop skills needed in Financial Technologies and Services careers.

Directions

Answer the following questions:

1. What does FBLA stand for?
2. Identify one chapter officer position and describe its responsibilities.
3. Describe two leadership skills developed through FBLA.
4. Explain how leadership skills are important in Financial Technologies careers.
5. What FBLA leadership position would interest you and why?

Reflection

Write a paragraph (5-7 sentences) explaining how FBLA leadership experiences prepare students for careers in Financial Technologies and Services.

Total Points: 100

Student Work Sample

Student Name: Mason Walker

Date: September 16, 2026

Responses

1. FBLA stands for Future Business Leaders of America.
2. The Chapter President leads meetings, coordinates chapter activities, and represents members at events.
3. Two leadership skills developed through FBLA are communication and decision-making.
4. Leadership skills are important because financial technology professionals often work on teams, manage projects, and solve problems involving financial systems.
5. I would be interested in serving as Vice President because I enjoy helping organize activities and working with other students.

Reflection

FBLA gives students opportunities to become leaders through officer positions and chapter activities. Students learn responsibility, communication, and teamwork skills. These skills are important in Financial Technologies because professionals often collaborate to solve financial problems. Leadership experiences also help students develop confidence. Participating in FBLA can prepare students for future careers by teaching professionalism and workplace expectations.

Rubric

Criteria	Points Possible	Points Earned
Questions 1-5	50	49
Reflection	30	28

Criteria	Points Possible	Points Earned
Leadership Connections	10	10
Completeness	10	10
Total	100	97

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Mason,

Excellent work explaining how FBLA develops leadership skills that are relevant to Financial Technologies careers. Your explanation of the Vice President role and the importance of communication and decision-making demonstrates a clear understanding of the standard. To strengthen your reflection, consider providing a specific example of a technology project that would require leadership skills.

Final Score: 97/100

— Mr. Graham

Activity 2: FBLA Community Financial Education Project

Assignment Sheet

Objective

Students will examine how FBLA service projects support schools and communities while reinforcing Financial Technologies concepts.

Directions

Design a financial education community service project and answer:

1. What is the name of your project?
2. Who is the target audience?
3. What financial topic will be taught?
4. What responsibilities will FBLA members have?
5. How will the project benefit the community?

Reflection

Write a paragraph explaining how community service projects help students develop leadership and professional skills.

Total Points: 100

Student Work Sample

Student Name: Ava Thompson

Date: September 19, 2026

Responses

1. Project Name: Smart Money Workshop
2. The target audience is middle school students.
3. The workshop will teach budgeting and online banking safety.
4. FBLA members will create presentations, lead activities, and answer questions from participants.
5. The project will help students understand how to manage money and protect financial information.

Reflection

Community service projects help students learn leadership by allowing them to teach and help others. Students gain experience speaking in front of groups and organizing events. Financial education projects help improve financial literacy in the community. Working on a service project also teaches teamwork and responsibility. These skills can help students succeed in future careers and leadership positions.

Rubric

Criteria	Points Possible	Points Earned
Project Design	50	48
Reflection	30	29
Service & Leadership Connection	10	10
Completeness	10	10
Total	100	97

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Ava,

Outstanding work designing a realistic financial education service project. Your focus on budgeting and online banking safety directly connects to Financial Technologies and Services. The reflection clearly explains how community service strengthens leadership and communication skills. For additional improvement, include specific activities that participants would complete during the workshop.

Final Score: 97/100

— Mr. Graham

Activity 3: FBLA Competitive Event Exploration

Assignment Sheet

Objective

Students will investigate FBLA competitive events and explain how they support career readiness in Financial Technologies and Services.

Directions

Choose an FBLA competitive event and answer the following:

1. What FBLA competitive event did you select?
2. What skills are necessary for success in this event?
3. How does the event relate to Financial Technologies and Services?
4. What career opportunities connect to the event?
5. Would you participate in this event? Why or why not?

Reflection

Write a paragraph explaining how FBLA competitive events prepare students for future careers and leadership responsibilities.

Total Points: 100

Student Work Sample

Student Name: Sophia Hernandez

Date: September 23, 2026

Responses

1. I selected the Financial Statement Analysis event.
2. Skills needed include financial analysis, critical thinking, communication, and problem-solving.
3. The event relates to Financial Technologies because professionals use financial data and software systems to evaluate business performance.

4. Careers connected to this event include financial analyst, accountant, banking specialist, and fintech consultant.
5. I would participate because it would help me improve my analytical skills and learn more about financial careers.

Reflection

FBLA competitive events provide opportunities for students to apply classroom learning in real-world situations. Students develop confidence, communication skills, and leadership abilities through competition. Competitive events also help students improve problem-solving and financial analysis skills. These experiences prepare students for college and careers by exposing them to workplace expectations. Participating in FBLA competitions can help students become career-ready professionals.

Rubric

Criteria	Points Possible	Points Earned
Questions 1-5	50	47
Reflection	30	29
Career Connections	10	10
Completeness	10	10
Total	100	96

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Sophia,

Very good work connecting the Financial Statement Analysis competitive event to Financial Technologies and Services careers. Your responses show a strong understanding of how technology and financial data work together in today's business environment. The reflection effectively explains how FBLA competitive events build career-ready skills. To earn additional points, provide a more detailed explanation of the technology tools that financial analysts use to support decision-making.

Final Score: 96/100

— Mr. Graham

Standard Addressed: FIN-FTS-9 ✓

FBLA Co-Curricular Activity Documentation

Course

Financial Literacy / Introduction to Business & Technology

Standard

FIN-IBT-12: Explore how related student organizations are integral parts of career and technology education courses through leadership development, school and community service projects, entrepreneurship development, and competitive events.

FBLA Connection

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA)

Activity Title

FBLA Career Exploration and Leadership Reflection

Activity Type

Co-Curricular Leadership Activity

Duration

1 Class Period (45 Minutes)

Assignment Sheet

FBLA Career Exploration and Leadership Reflection

Purpose

One of the goals of Career, Technical, and Agricultural Education (CTAE) is to connect classroom learning to real-world leadership opportunities. FBLA helps students develop professional skills through leadership activities, service projects, entrepreneurship experiences, and competitive events.

For this assignment, you will explore how FBLA supports career development and identify opportunities that interest you.

Directions

Visit the National FBLA website or review the FBLA information provided by your teacher.

After exploring the organization, answer the questions below in complete sentences.

Part I: Understanding FBLA

1. What does FBLA stand for?
 2. Name two benefits of joining FBLA.
 3. Describe one leadership opportunity available through FBLA.
 4. Describe one community service project FBLA members could participate in.
 5. Identify one competitive event that interests you and explain why.
-

Part II: Personal Reflection

Write a paragraph (minimum 5 sentences) answering the following:

How could participation in FBLA help you prepare for your future career and develop leadership skills?

Points

Component	Points
Questions 1-5	50
Reflection Paragraph	30
Completeness & Effort	20
Total	100

Student Work Sample

Student Name: Cameron Myers

Date: September 03, 2026

Part I: Understanding FBLA

1. What does FBLA stand for?

FBLA stands for Future Business Leaders of America.

2. Name two benefits of joining FBLA.

Two benefits of joining FBLA are developing leadership skills and networking with business professionals.

3. Describe one leadership opportunity available through FBLA.

Students can run for chapter officer positions and help organize meetings and events.

4. Describe one community service project FBLA members could participate in.

FBLA members might organize a school supply drive to collect materials for local students in need.

5. Identify one competitive event that interests you and explain why.

The Personal Finance event interests me because I want to learn how to manage money and make smart financial decisions.

Part II: Personal Reflection

I think participating in FBLA would help me prepare for my future career because it teaches leadership and business skills. I would be able to work with other students on projects and learn how to communicate professionally. FBLA competitions would help me gain confidence when presenting ideas. Community service projects would allow me to give back to my community. Overall, I believe FBLA would help me become a more responsible and career-ready student.

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Score: 96/100

Feedback:

Cam,

Excellent work demonstrating your understanding of FBLA and its role in Career and Technical Education. Your responses clearly explain the benefits of membership and show a strong connection between FBLA activities and career readiness.

Your reflection effectively describes how leadership experiences, competitions, and community service can contribute to your future success. To earn full credit, you could include a more detailed explanation of how a specific FBLA competitive event connects to your career interests.

Overall, this is a thoughtful and well-completed assignment. Keep up the great work!

— Mr. Graham

FBLA Co-Curricular Activity #2

Course

Financial Literacy / Introduction to Business & Technology

Standard

FIN-IBT-12: Explore how related student organizations are integral parts of career and technology education courses through leadership development, school and community service projects, entrepreneurship development, and competitive events.

Activity Title

FBLA Community Service Project Proposal

Assignment Sheet

Purpose

FBLA members contribute to their communities through service projects that address local needs while developing leadership and teamwork skills.

For this activity, you will design a community service project that your FBLA chapter could realistically implement.

Directions

Create a proposal that includes the following:

Part I: Service Project Plan

1. Name of the project
2. Purpose of the project
3. Who will benefit from the project?
4. How will FBLA members help?
5. What supplies or resources are needed?

Part II: Leadership Reflection

Write a paragraph (5-7 sentences) explaining:

- What leadership skills would be needed to organize this project?

- How would this project improve the community?
 - Why is community service important in FBLA?
-

Point Value

Category	Points
Project Plan	60
Reflection	30
Effort and Completeness	10
Total	100

Student Work Sample

Student Name: Jack Jablonski

Part I: Service Project Plan

Project Name: Centennial Food Drive

Purpose: To collect canned food and nonperishable items for families in need.

Who Will Benefit: Local families experiencing food insecurity.

How Will FBLA Members Help: Members will advertise the event, collect donations, sort food, and deliver items to a local food bank.

Resources Needed: Donation boxes, flyers, transportation, and volunteers.

Part II: Leadership Reflection

Organizing this project would require communication, teamwork, and planning skills. Student leaders would need to create a schedule and motivate others to participate. This project would help families who need additional food resources. Community service is important in FBLA because it allows students to make a positive impact while developing leadership skills. It also teaches responsibility and professionalism. Working on projects like this prepares students for future careers and community involvement.

Teacher Score

Criteria	Score
Project Plan	58/60
Reflection	29/30
Completeness	10/10
Total	97/100

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Jack,

Outstanding job creating a realistic and meaningful FBLA service project. Your proposal clearly identifies a community need and explains how FBLA members can contribute. Your reflection demonstrates a strong understanding of leadership skills and the value of service learning. Consider including more details about how donations would be promoted throughout the school.

Final Score: 97/100

— Mr. Graham

FBLA Co-Curricular Activity #3

Course

Financial Literacy / Introduction to Business & Technology

Standard

FIN-IBT-12: Explore how related student organizations are integral parts of career and technology education courses through leadership development, school and community service projects, entrepreneurship development, and competitive events.

Activity Title

FBLA Competitive Event Career Connection Analysis

Assignment Sheet

Purpose

FBLA competitive events allow students to apply business knowledge, develop workplace skills, and explore career interests.

Students will investigate an FBLA competitive event and explain how it connects to a potential career.

Directions

Choose one FBLA Competitive Event.

Answer the following questions:

1. What competitive event did you choose?
2. What skills are required for success in this event?
3. What careers relate to this event?
4. How would participating help prepare a student for the workplace?
5. Would you participate in this event? Why or why not?

Reflection

Write one paragraph (minimum 5 sentences) explaining how FBLA competitive events support career readiness and leadership development.

Scoring

Category	Points
Questions 1-5	50
Reflection	30
Career Connections	10
Completeness	10
Total	100

Student Work Sample

Student Name: Emma Rodriguez

Questions

1. What competitive event did you choose?

Business Plan.

2. What skills are required for success in this event?

Research, communication, presentation, budgeting, and teamwork.

3. What careers relate to this event?

Entrepreneur, business manager, marketing manager, and financial analyst.

4. How would participating help prepare a student for the workplace?

Students learn how to develop ideas, create plans, and present information professionally.

5. Would you participate in this event? Why or why not?

Yes. I would like to learn how businesses are started and managed.

Reflection

FBLA competitive events help students become career ready by allowing them to practice professional skills. Students must research topics, organize information, and communicate effectively. Many events simulate real workplace situations that professionals encounter. These experiences build confidence and leadership abilities. Participating in competitive events helps students prepare for both college and future careers.

Teacher Score

Criteria	Score
Questions 1-5	49/50
Reflection	29/30
Career Connection	10/10
Completeness	10/10
Total	98/100

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Emma,

Excellent analysis of the Business Plan competitive event. You successfully connected the event to multiple business careers and demonstrated an understanding of how FBLA helps students develop workplace skills. Your reflection clearly explains the relationship between competitive events, leadership development, and career readiness. For future assignments, consider providing additional examples from specific careers to strengthen your analysis.

Final Score: 98/100

— Mr. Graham

FIN-IFT-10 CTSO Documentation Activities

Course: 07.42700 Introduction to Financial Technology

Standard: FIN-IFT-10

Standard Statement:

Examine how related student organizations are integral parts of career and technology education courses through leadership development, school and community service projects, and competitive events.

Date for All Activities: September 03, 2026

Activity 1: FBLA Leadership Development Investigation

Assignment Sheet

Objective

Students will explore how FBLA develops leadership skills that support success in Financial Technology careers.

Directions

Research FBLA leadership opportunities and answer the following questions:

1. What does FBLA stand for?
2. Identify two leadership positions available in an FBLA chapter.
3. Describe three leadership skills developed through FBLA.
4. Explain why leadership is important in Financial Technology careers.
5. Describe one leadership activity that you would like to participate in.

Reflection

Write a paragraph (5-7 sentences) explaining how participation in FBLA can help develop leadership skills that are important in college and future careers.

Total Points: 100

Student Work Sample

Student: Jordan Miller

Date: September 03, 2026

Responses

1. FBLA stands for Future Business Leaders of America.
2. Two leadership positions are Chapter President and Chapter Treasurer.
3. Leadership skills developed through FBLA include communication, teamwork, and decision-making.
4. Leadership is important in Financial Technology careers because employees often manage projects, work with clients, and make important business decisions.
5. I would like to serve as Chapter Treasurer because I enjoy working with numbers and financial planning.

Reflection

FBLA helps students build leadership skills that can be used in school and future careers. Students learn how to communicate with others and work in teams. Leadership positions help students become more responsible. These experiences prepare students for workplace expectations. I believe FBLA can help me become a stronger leader and a better employee in the future.

Scoring Rubric

Criteria	Points
Questions 1-5	50
Reflection	30

Criteria	Points
Leadership Connections	10
Completeness	10
Total	100

Student Score

Category	Score
Questions	48/50
Reflection	28/30
Leadership Connections	10/10
Completeness	10/10
Total	96/100

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Jordan,

Excellent work identifying leadership opportunities within FBLA. Your explanation of how leadership skills connect to Financial Technology careers demonstrates strong understanding of the standard. I especially liked your discussion of the Chapter Treasurer position. To strengthen your reflection, consider providing a specific example of how communication skills could be applied in a financial technology workplace.

Final Score: 96/100

— Mr. Graham

Activity 2: FBLA Community Service Project Design

Assignment Sheet

Objective

Students will examine how FBLA supports community involvement through service projects.

Directions

Design a community service project that an FBLA chapter could implement.

Answer the following:

1. What is the name of your project?
2. What community need does the project address?
3. Who will benefit from the project?
4. What responsibilities will FBLA members have?
5. How will the project improve the community?

Reflection

Write one paragraph explaining how community service projects help students develop leadership and career-ready skills.

Total Points: 100

Student Work Sample

Student: Mia Rodriguez

Date: September 03, 2026

Responses

1. Financial Literacy for Teens
2. The project addresses the need for students to learn money management skills.

3. High school students and their families will benefit.
4. FBLA members will teach budgeting workshops, create educational materials, and assist participants.
5. The project will improve the community by helping students make better financial decisions.

Reflection

Community service projects allow students to help others while developing important workplace skills. Students learn communication, planning, and teamwork through service activities. Teaching financial literacy is important because it helps people make informed decisions about money. FBLA members gain leadership experience while serving their communities. These skills can be valuable in future careers.

Scoring Rubric

Criteria	Points
Project Design	50
Reflection	30
Leadership Connection	10
Completeness	10
Total	100

Student Score

Category	Score
Project Design	49/50
Reflection	29/30

Category	Score
Leadership Connection	10/10
Completeness	10/10
Total	98/100

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Mia,

Outstanding work creating a meaningful FBLA community service project. Your focus on financial literacy directly connects classroom learning to community impact. The project description is clear and realistic, and your reflection demonstrates a strong understanding of leadership development through service. Consider including specific methods for measuring the project's success to strengthen your proposal even further.

Final Score: 98/100

— Mr. Graham

Activity 3: FBLA Competitive Event Career Connection

Assignment Sheet

Objective

Students will explore how FBLA competitive events help prepare students for careers in business and Financial Technology.

Directions

Research an FBLA competitive event and answer the following questions:

1. What event did you select?

2. What skills are required for success in this event?
3. How does this event relate to Financial Technology?
4. What career pathways connect to this event?
5. Why would you be interested in participating?

Reflection

Write a paragraph explaining how competitive events help students prepare for college, careers, and leadership opportunities.

Total Points: 100

Student Work Sample

Student: Ethan Carter

Date: September 03, 2026

Responses

1. Financial Statement Analysis
2. Skills required include problem-solving, research, financial analysis, and presentation skills.
3. This event relates to Financial Technology because professionals use financial data and technology tools to analyze business performance.
4. Career pathways include financial analyst, accountant, investment advisor, and financial technology specialist.
5. I would participate because it would help me better understand business finances and improve my analytical skills.

Reflection

Competitive events help students apply classroom knowledge to real-world situations. Students gain confidence by solving problems and presenting solutions. Events encourage teamwork, leadership, and professional communication. Participating in competitions allows students to practice skills needed for college and careers. These experiences help students become better prepared for future opportunities.

Scoring Rubric

Criteria	Points
Questions 1-5	50
Reflection	30
Career Connections	10
Completeness	10
Total	100

Student Score

Category	Score
Questions	47/50
Reflection	29/30
Career Connections	10/10
Completeness	10/10
Total	96/100

Teacher Feedback

Teacher: Mr. Graham

Ethan,

Very good work connecting FBLA competitive events to Financial Technology careers. Your explanation of Financial Statement Analysis demonstrates understanding of how data analysis and technology support financial decision-making. The career connections were appropriate and well explained. In the future, consider discussing a specific technology tool that might be used during financial analysis to provide even deeper insight.

Final Score: 96/100

— Mr. Graham
